"It is a good thing to know that from the earliest days of antiquity, men have striven toward beauty, and left us a record. Beauty, created by man has outlived dynasties, nations, and wars. It is an instrument of enduring strength."

The search for examples of these ancient "strivings toward beauty" to bring back to the big cities, where they can be known and appreciated by the people of his own civilization, especially the children, has taken Chauncey J. Hamlin, attorney, anthropologist, ethnologist, and archeologist to distant and out of the way places. His successes have enriched museums and brought honors and responsibilities to himself.

He was born in Buffalo, New York, in the Eighties. He lives now in Carmel.

"From my early youth the relics and arts of the ancient world claimed my greatest interest," he says. Yet it was not as an archeologist he began young adult life.

Graduating from Yale in 1903, from Buffalo Law School in 1905, a Doctor of Law and a Phi Beta Kappa, he practiced law for many years in Buffalo and in New York City, rising to national prominence in the field. His professional accomplishments would have been enough for most men. But his intense interest in civilization's beginnings still remained paramount. He found time to travel "round the globe" in his quest for age old treasures. Today his collections and manuscripts are in the world's foremost museums. It started with his "home museum". In 1905 he had married Miss Emily Gray of Buffalo. "Our children decided at an early age that a museum of natural history right at home would be fun. We went to the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences and begged for specimens and relics they might have stored away. Our home museum grew, with all the neighborhood children enthusiastic members.

"I would like to emphasize how important it is for children to feel that all great museums 'belong' to them. If they are introduced early in life to exhibits of the wonders of the natural world and accomplishments of far off races and nations (far off in time as well as geographically) world understanding, synonym for peace, will be nearer."

Interest in the children's home museum took him many times to the Buffalo Society. He found himself to be an endowment founder member. From 1915 to 1919 he served as vice-president; and from 1920 to 1948 as president. Upon his retirement in 1948 Mr. Hamlin was elected president

Pink Elephant Goes To Court

Yesterday attorney Carmel Martin Jr. filed a petition for a writ of mandate in Superior Court in Salinas seeking reversal of the state's refusal to approve transfer of a liquor license to the Pink Elephant Liquor store in Carmel on behalf of the proposed store's owners Paul Chedester and Robert Aebersold.

Named as defendants in the action were the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control; the department's director Russell S. Munro; the department's appeals board; the City of Carmel; and a group of Carmel residents who signed a petition protesting the license transfer.

Mission Tract Block First Completed For Community Chest Drive

First honors for completing her soliciting for the Community Chest Drive goes to Esabel Boggess, who turned in her kit with $120 collected from her block in the Mission Tract the same day the drive opened.

Others, not so fortunate at finding their people at home, are working enthusiastically to achieve Carmel's quota of $29,000.

"Carmel is inclined to think of the well-baby clinic, the Youth Center, the Girl and Boy Scouts as the only agencies that benefit from the Community Chest," Mrs. Julian von Meier, secretary for the Carmel area commented yesterday.

"Actually Carmel benefits greatly from other agencies, also. Carmel schools refer children and their parents to the family guidance service with its psychiatric social worker. The visiting nurse service is in much demand in Carmel."

Mrs. Stanley Cummings produced figures for the latter. During the past year the visiting nurse has made 1382 calls in Carmel, many of them to assist Carmel's senior citizens.

Now Planners Want "General Powers" For Landscaping

In the council-planning commission study session last night, the council suggested that the planning commission hold a public hearing on the interim ordinance as it is so it can be renewed in time; that they do not insist on an amendment to the interim ordinance which would rile the public and hold up its passage; that they work out an amendment to the existing zoning ordinance that would give them an acceptable amount of control over landscaping and set-backs, which can be treated separately from the interim ordinance, and at more leisure. Councilman Francis Whitaker and his committee had worked out such an amendment and presented it at the last council study session. The council seemed to favor it at the time.

But the planning commission, which had rejected the council's suggestion two weeks ago that they be given broad general powers over landscaping in the interim ordinance rather than their restrictive, controversial 4-6 site coverage amendment, last night presented the council with a revised interim ordinance giving themselves broad general powers over landscaping which are so broad that in effect they will empower the commission to establish their 4-6 site coverage formula and any set backs they may wish to impose.

The council apparently passed this over when they moved on to a first survey of the planning commission's modified master plan.

At the end of the meeting, however, City Clerk Larry Rose pointed out that the planning commission's proposed modifications of the interim ordinance need not delay its passage, because, after planning commission public hearing, if there is an outcry from the citizens, the council could delete the objectionable portions and pass it without sending it back to the planning commission for more hearings. "You can delete without sending it back. It's only when you make changes or additions that it has to go for more hearings," he said.

Council members looked thoughtful. Next Wednesday they hold an official meeting and will have to start the interim ordinance on its way for public hearings, either as is or modified.

Fire Prevention Week Posters And Parade

Carmel Fire Department will send one fire engine and "Old Laverne", the department's first fire engine, to parade Saturday through Seaside, Monterey and Pacific Grove in the peninsula's Fire Prevention Week parade, according to the Fire Chief Robert Smith.

Winning posters from two contests conducted in the Carmel elementary schools will be displayed all next week in store windows on Ocean Avenue. Competing in the Fire Prevention Week poster contests are students in grades four, five and six. The seventh and eighth grade pupils are competing in a separate class.

Prizes for the best posters telling how to prevent fires will be donated by the Kiwanis club.

Chitwood Mayor Till New Member Can Be Appointed

Meeting in closed session last night, the City Council chose John Chitwood, senior councilman, as mayor pro tem.

Horace Lyon resigned Tuesday as mayor and city councilman. The closed meeting preceded a scheduled council-planning commission study session.

Mr. Chitwood explained, as he

Council Has First Look At Pruned City Master Plan

Last night Planning Commission Chairman George Willox outlined briefly for the city council the planning commission's modified Livingston Master Plan, which they had submitted to the council June 5. It is much pruned, "so we can get it accepted and have something to show the county planning commission. Now when we go before them without a plan, we're like babes in the woods."

The commission has deleted many of the controversial elements which were revealed to them in the public hearings. Some of the deletions they may want to take up again at some later date, such as the transitional zone (Orange Zone), Mr. Willox said. "The principal is not deleted. The transitional zone is dead, but not buried."

Dead and buried is the access road or parking facilities of the south side of Carmel River Lagoon; opening up Viscaino Street; four-lane street access to the Mission from the proposed freeway; the proposal to close that portion of highway No. 1 between Carpenter Street and Valley Way; the proposal to extend Junipero Street as a major thoroughfare south of Eighth Avenue.

Still in the pruned plan is the Ocean Avenue Mall and the civic center blocking Ocean Avenue between Mission and Junipero Streets. The revised Mall proposal would close Ocean Avenue to east-west traffic and parking but allow north-south traffic to cross Ocean at existing intersections. If the Mall and civic center location prove controversial in the hearings which the council will hold on the pruned plan, they should be deleted also, Mr. Willox suggested.

Finally, the commission has eliminated the "precise" off-street parking layout in the Livingston red and white checkerboard of the business district. "This is not saying we shouldn't plan for off street parking."

In this first informal view, the council refrained from comment and restricted itself to questions.

WATER DISTRICT SURVEY TENTATIVELY APPROVED

Representatives of the Peninsula cities, meeting in Monterey Monday night, looked favorably on a "feasibility" survey for forming a Peninsula water district, which Stone and Youngberry of San Francisco offered to conduct for $5,000.

Carmel's share of the survey cost would be $370. If the survey is authorized and approved, a Peninsula wide election will be held to take the chair at the head of the table to preside over the joint study session, that he had been selected "to serve until the selection of a successor to the unexpired term of Horace D. Lyon. Upon selection of a successor it is the intent of the council once again to reorganize and appoint a mayor to serve until April, 1958, when the next regular general election is held."

"The council favors making an appointment to fill the present vacancy on the council rather than call a special election for that purpose. They have decided to meet again on Tuesday, at 7:00 p. m. in executive session to consider further the appointment of a councilman."

At the next official meeting of the city council, "we shall observe the amenities and express by resolution our appreciation of the long and conscientious service of Horace Lyon," he added.

After five and a half years as Mayor of Carmel, Horace Lyon resigned from the city council on Tuesday. In a statement accompanying his letter of resignation he said: "For some months my doctor has strongly advised me that in order to hold my present excellent health I must free myself of all possible activities in the way of responsibilities and nervous strain." He added that he is 69 years old.

Mr. Lyon has lived in Carmel for 20 years and before that was a frequent visitor here. He and Mrs. Lyon have one son Peter, who graduated from both Sunset School and Carmel High School before entering Stanford University. After graduating from Stanford Peter served in Germany with the army and during this time married his former Carmel High and Stanford schoolmate Marcia Danelz. Peter and Marcia are now living in Berkeley while Peter prepares for a master's degree in history at the University of California.

"I have three daughters and seven grandchildren in the Bay area, too," said ex-Mayor Lyon. He was referring to his twin daughters Helen and Virginia and their children and his unmarried daughter Margaret. Virginia is the wife of Charles J. Gibbs of Orinda. The Gibbs have four children including twin boys. Virginia is married to David Gideon and they and their three children live in San Francisco. Dr. Margaret Lyon, the third daughter, is chairman of the music department at Mills College.

Mr. Lyon expects now to have more time to see his family, enjoy living in Carmel and maintain his fine health. He will continue to be local appraiser for residence loans for the San Francisco office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and treasurer of the Point Lobos League and to view with distaste above ground TV cable

LIVE OAK NEXT FOR CARMEL HIGH GRIDDERS

Coach Ami Leso brings his Live Oak High School football squads to Carmel this Saturday afternoon in hopes of spoiling the Red and Grey's 1957 debut in league competition. Coach Leso has plenty of reason for wanting to beat the Padre gridders and present the Acorns with their first win in CCAL B division competition. While coaching at Gilroy High, Coach Leso saw his potent 1956 grid machine upset by the championship-bound Padres and again last season, the Carmel lads clipped his charges in league action. Since moving to Live Oak, Leso has instilled a fighting spirit into the lethargic Acorns and they are now one of the feared teams in the league. Just last Saturday, Live Oak had King City hanging on the ropes before a pair of tough breaks in the final quarter opened the gate for two Mustang touchdowns. King City finished in front, 14 to 0, but the valley lads knew they were in a football game.

Saturday's clash with Live Oak will be the third outing for the Padres this season and will be a much better test than the previous two practice games. Against Gustine in the opener, Carmel breezed to a 38-6 win and had the foot off the throttle during most of the second half. An inexperienced Monterey reserve squad provided the competition in Carmel's second game and this was also a romp for the untested Red and Grey squad. Saturday's game will answer many questions relative to the offensive and defensive power packed by the 1957 Carmel High varsity.

Captain Bob Goldwater will lead an offensive team consisting of Art Wilkerson and Bill Hicks, ends; Al Eaker and Fred Nelson, tackles; Mal Burdis and Neil Giaratana, guards; Parker Pollock, center; Ted Smith, quarterback; Dennis Peavey and Tim O'Shea, halfbacks; and Goldwater, fullback. The Padres will defend with Alf Anderson and Art Wilkerson, ends; Phil Durbrow and Norman Colman, tackles; Joe Mason and Al Eaker, guards; Steve Gann and Parker Pollock, linebackers; Pete Phillips and Dennis Peavey, halfbacks; and Ted Smith at safety.

Carmel has a corps of hard-running reserve backs in Cim Conway, Andy Gray, Tony Bingham, Jim Lee, and Dare Conroy. These lads have looked good in both practice games and are sure to see plenty of action in Saturday's league battle. Up front, the Padres get good bench help from such line stalwarts as Pat Harney, Sam Farr, Hal Gregerson, George Blanks, Dave Vincent, John Morse, Mike Raggett, and a recent graduate from Fred Rainer's junior-varsity, Bill Myrick. Myrick was greeted by the varsity squad when the league coaches voted to ban senior students from participating on the jayvee teams.

In a 12:30 preliminary tussle, the Padre junior-varsity will host the Live Oak jayvees who will also be after their first victory in CCAL B-division play. Coach Rainer's Padrecitos have shown good power in winning from Gustine and losing to the Monterey lightweights and are shaping up as the team to beat in the junior-varsity race. Superior condition combined with sharp blocking and tackling has gained the Carmel jayvees a reputation of being hard to handle in the cozy B-league circuit. Coach Rainer has named the following starters to open against Live Oak: ends, Jamie Holman and Larry Dufur; tackles, John and Chris Wilkin; guards, Doug McClurg and Van Treat; center, Harrison Hilbert; quarterback, Craig Smith; halfbacks, Pete Willcox and Chips Wood; and fullback, Mike Marquard.

CARMEL FOOTBALL TEAMS SPLIT WITH MONTEREY

Carmel's junior varsity dropped a close decision to the speedy Monterey lightweights and the Carmel varsity powered to a one-sided victory over the hastily-organized Monterey varsity reserve junior-varsity combination in last Saturday's grid action at the Carmel High field. Although whipped, 18 to 12, Fred Rainer's jayvees actually gained stature in the game as the Carmel lads were figured to be soundly whipped by the more mature Monterey squad. The fired-up Padrecitos actually took the play away from Doug McNeil's fine team during the first half and had the green clad Toreababes hanging on the ropes as late as the third quarter. All locked up at 12-12 going into the final period it was either team's game to win or lose and the visitors got the big break on a long completed pass to put across the clincher. Dropped passes and mistakes on pass defense hurt the inexperienced Padrecitos but they will be tough to beat in their own league. Paced by the fine running of Mike Marquard, Chips Wood, and Pete Willcox and the stellar quarterback play of Craig Smith, the Little Padres can move the ball and are mighty rugged in the line with the likes of Doug McClurg, the Wilkin twins, and Van Treat. A fine little linebacker, Larry Dufur, is the best tackler on the squad of good tacklers and his fine defensive play stood out in the loss to Monterey. Smith and Wood scored the touchdowns for the Padrecitos and along with hard-driving fullback, Mike Marquard, ground out most of Carmel's yardage.

The Padre varsity wore down the outmanned Monterey reserves after the first quarter and moved the ball five touchdowns in the next three quarters. Ted Smith, a classy quarterback and a slippery runner when in the open, led the Carmel offense with his deft ball-handling and speedy end runs. This lad looks to be the top quarterback in the B-division at this point and could be the glue which holds together a good football machine. Ted scored twice in the 40-6 tussle and picked up huge chunks of yardage on punt returns. Tony Bingham and Bill Hicks also romped for a pair of touchdowns and the versatile Hicks chipped in with a pass to Wilkerson which ate up 45 yards. The solid line play of Joe Mason, Parker Pollock, and Art Wilkerson was a constant source of annoyance to the Toreadores all afternoon and established these three lads as a trio to be reckoned with when league play starts next Saturday. Fullback Dare Conroy, a newcomer to Padre football, had a fine day as a ball carrier, averaging better than 8 yards per carry through the middle of the Monterey line.

Monterey hit the scoreboard in the fourth quarter when quarterback Hover hit end Jim Ashley with a long pass to reach pay dirt. The Monterey squad put up stubborn resistance all along the way but lack of organized practice as a unit hurt the chances of the hard-trying Toreadores.

Next action for the Carmel grid squads is slated this Saturday afternoon when the Live Oak High Acorns invade Bardarson Field for a pair of league games. Prelim between the jayvee squads starts at 12:30 with the varsity tilt getting underway at 2:00 o'clock.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL PLANS BEING MADE

"That's Enough! That's Enough!
We Can't Get It All In The Car"

Here's a cheap way to supply your home with water. Cheap, that is, in a money sense, but expensive in time and labor.

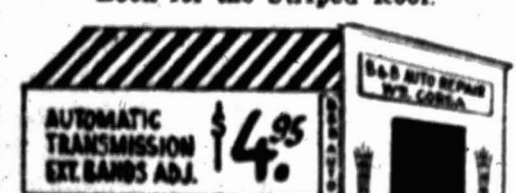

And consider these two points: You can't possibly supply all your family's needs with a water system of this kind; nor can you be assured that the water that you take home is safe.

Modern water systems, such as the one which serves this area, brings to your home—day in and day out—an abundant supply of good safe water, at the proper pressure, fast and inexpensively.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

THE ALLOTT BILL

For all those who participated in the long and successful effort to prevent Echo Park dam from being built in Dinosaur National Monument, the Allott Bill, S. 2577, introduced in the last Congress but not passed, has great importance. The purpose of the bill, introduced by Senator Allott of Colorado, is to make Dinosaur National Monument into a national park. Conservationists everywhere are entirely in sympathy with that objective but there is one controversial clause in that bill that is causing nearly all of the leading conservation groups of the country to oppose it, until that clause is eliminated.

A great deal of publicity favoring the bill has been put out by a New York City group of conservationists, who have spared no expense in printing and distributing this material. However, the active working conservation groups, who have banded themselves together as the Natural Resources Council of America, including the National Parks Association, the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, the National Wildlife Federation, and many others, are taking the opposite view.

The controversy centers about the legal interpretation of one clause in the bill. This clause provides authority for the Department of the Interior to make further investigations of reservoir sites within the proposed park. Our groups feel that this clause in the bill, if passed, would constitute an expression of intent on the part of Congress to allow the construction of dams in the park, if they are found to be feasible. This would undo most of the hard work of the conservation groups during the last four or five years in protecting the national park system from dam building.

Another bill has been introduced in Congress by Representative John Saylor of Pennsylvania, H. R. 935, which has the endorsement of all the conservation groups. It is essentially the same as the Allott Bill with the exception of the controversial clause. It would without question uphold the intent of Congress, as expressed in the Colorado River Project Act, that no dams or reservoirs should be built in Dinosaur National Monument or Park. It is our hope that this bill can be passed in the next session of Congress and that the Allott Bill can be amended to delete the controversial clause.

On the main question of converting Dinosaur National Monument into a national park Senator Allott is on firm ground. There is no question but that the area is of national park caliber. However the congressmen from Utah have opposed it, no doubt because it would be more difficult sometime in the future for Congress to reverse itself and pass a bill authorizing Echo Park dam, if the area had national park status.

Ordinarily a bill such as the Saylor bill has little chance of passing Congress, unless it is introduced by a congressman from the state in which the area in question is located. In this case, however, since the Utah congressmen will not introduce such a bill, it is necessary to rely on the efforts of Congressman Saylor, who was one of the leaders in opposing Echo Park dam. Senator Allott, coming from Colorado, one of the two states in which Dinosaur National Monument is located will carry great weight in the Senate. It is too bad that his bill contains this controversial clause. We sincerely hope that it can be deleted.

Sam Colburn New Teacher At Carmel School Of Art

A new faculty member of The Carmel School of Art, Sam Colburn, will be teaching a Saturday morning class in drawing and painting, featuring water-color techniques. Mr. Colburn's reputation was gained as a water colorist and in this medium he gained a number of awards, but recently he has added oil to his list of media and has been so successful that his oils are in great demand. Sam Colburn studied in Los Angeles; has exhibited in New York, Nevada, Colorado, Arizona, and, of course, California where he has had one-man shows in Carmel, Monterey, Santa Barbara, San Francisco and Modesto. In addition he was commissioned twice to do illustrations for Ford Publications. Colburn's murals are seen in several Carmel business houses.

Information about Mr. Colburn's teaching may be obtained from Louise Cardeiro Boyer, director of The Carmel School of Art. Classes are in session at the school which is located in the Carmel Craft Studios on San Carlos near Ocean conducted by Mrs. Boyer, who spent this summer in the East studying with Hans Hoffman. Portrait work is taught by Jesse Corsaut, whose distinguished work in portrait and still life is well-known.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian
Sometimes being a librarian is full of chuckles. The other day a girl came to the library asking for rainfall statistics for the pre-historic ages. She was writing a paper on weather in the stone age. We had no pre-historic statistics, so we were a sort of hindrance to her progress.

We have some interesting new books. A novel of the last war written by a Japanese writer from the Japanese standpoint is Fires on the Plain, by Ooka. It traces the mental, spiritual, and physical degradation which can come through the experience of war. Its publishers predict that this may be one of the great books of the war era. However, publishers are sometimes like mothers. Their offspring always seem to have a potential for greatness which is all too often unrealized.

We have two copies of the Cozzens book By Love Possessed. Opinion as to this latest book of the great Mr. Cozzens seems to be divided. Paid-by-the-line reviewers are hailing it as the book of the decade, and so it may be. Patrons of this library who read early copies of it are almost unanimous in disliking it for one reason or another. So you must form your own opinion. Certain it is that although the book is very frank in spots, the author is a writer of such literary stature that no one can ignore his work without missing a valuable reading experience.

Before you decide whether to buy a big car or a convenient little car, come to the library and borrow The Economy Car Blitz by Joe Wherry. Here is a very good discussion of small cars with diagrams of their little innards, and details as to why they do what they do so inexpensively and well. Aside from the fact that it seems fantastic for anyone living in Carmel to try to drive a long car through our streets, this discussion of gears, brakes, and performance, may do a lot toward turning you to a small car.

In July we ordered The Outdoor Encyclopedia by Ted Kesting. We thought it might be a help to hardy souls camping out all over the hills. The book was so slow to arrive that we are now hoping it will help you next year. Anyway, it is full of information and if you are the type who can enjoy getting away from traffic and shopping centers, this is for you.

The Folklore of Maine by Horace Beck is a book full of well told tales of Down East ghosts, of wise sayings, of legends and poems, and prophecies. Here you will meet again the old saws your grandparents quoted to you, such as:

Rain before seven, clear before eleven, and the following for allergies—

Sneeze on Monday, sneeze for danger,

Sneeze on Tuesday, kiss a stranger,

Sneeze on Wednesday, get a letter,

Sneeze on Thursday, something better,

Sneeze on Friday, sneeze for sorrow,

Sneeze on Saturday, see sweetheart tomorrow,

Sneeze on Sunday, good luck all the week.

If you have been enjoying the Maurice Druon novels dealing with the kings of fourteenth century France, you will be happy that a new one has just been published. This one is laid during the reign of Louis the tenth, and its title is The Poisoned Crown. All of these Druon books have had very good reviews.

Chauncey Hamlin Archeologist, Was Once An Attorney

emeritus and honorable curator of anthropology.

All of this was not without interruptions. In 1916 he served in the U.S. Army on the Mexican border. And from 1917 to 1919 he was in France with the A.E.F.

From that year forward he has travelled to nearly every corner of the world in his search for primitives, folk art of the American Indians, the pre-Columbians in South America, the Chinese, the South Sea Islanders, Asians, and Africans.

"There are a amazing relationships in collections widely separated by land and seas. Some of my earliest American Indian pottery finds show South Sea Island influence. In Aloa, Central America, I came upon exquisite alabaster objects whose motifs show earliest Chinese influence."

Mr. Hamlin's discovery of Babylonian coins whose age is fixed at approximately 4000 B.C. won world wide attention.

His major collections and commentaries are on exhibit in the Buffalo Museum of Science (the Society of his younger days renamed). School children of Buffalo and the surrounding towns attend regular museum classes, "and they seem always to want to come back for more." He smiled.

Between the wars Mr. Hamlin appeared prominently in New York State and in national politics, and found time for many other activities. From 1924 to 1955 he acted as president of the Buffalo Chamber Music Society. In 1936 he was elected vice-chairman of the Buffalo Philharmonic. The University of Buffalo awarded him the Chancellor's Medal in 1931; and he was honored with a medallion by the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society in 1933.

As a member of the Board of Trustees of the American Museum of Natural History Mr. Hamlin made numerous momentous field trips. His collections resultant of exploration in China in 1934-36 led to his being elected president of the Chinese Art Society in America.

During the turbulent post war days, following World War II, this eminent scholar of antiquity proved himself a great American, and friend of mankind.

In the formation of UNESCO Chauncey Hamlin's theory of cultural understanding among people of the world, as an instrument of peace, came to the fore. He was then president of the American Association of Museums with headquarters in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. Through his firsthand knowledge of the great museums of the world, his personal friendships amongst their directors, and his driving energies, he brought into being the International Council of Museums in 1947, and was president for the ensuing six years. Upon his retirement from the presidency in 1953 he was unanimously elected president emeritus and named founder of the council.

"I was succeeded as president of the Council by Georges Salles, director of the National Museums of France, including the Louvre. He is carrying on valiantly and I am looking forward to seeing him at the Council's Triennial meeting in 1959. There are now 40 member nations and I believe we are proving that art knows no nationalistic barriers, no matter how far off in time or space its origin."

That the Council has gone a long way toward Mr. Hamlin's objectives may be best judged by the honors heaped upon him.

He is a Fellow of the Museums Association of Great Britain. In 1946 he was awarded the Medal of King George by Greece; 1947, made an officer of Legion of Honor of France, and during the same year he was given the Distinguished Service Award of the American Association of Museums. In 1950 Mr. Hamlin was named Officer of the Legion of Honor and Merit of Haiti.

"One medal I have is very special," Mr. Hamlin told me with a twinkle. "Only the King of Sweden and I have been awarded the Medal of the Swedish Museums Association. The King got his first!" This last was presented to Mr. Hamlin in recognition of his collection of pre-historic Chinese pottery and the Ardos Bronzes.

Chauncey Hamlin has been a Carmel summer resident since 1952 when he and Mrs. Ella Gayle Hand, widow of the late General Daniel W. Hand, were married. Mrs. Hamlin has lived here for many years and enjoys wide popularity because of her great personal charm. Should you drive or stroll along Casanova any day before sundown you will see in front of the Hamlin home an American flag, flung high to the breeze and sunshine. It is quite right that the nation's flag should fly there. It identifies the home of an illustrious scholar, an American patriot, and a citizen of the world.

transformer boxes in Carmel.

"In no instance was there ample justification to make exception to the ordinance demanding that the boxes be placed below ground," said Mr. Lyon referring to his continued opposition to the transformer boxes now seen on Carmel streets. He was the only councilman who never voted Yes on this issue.

"The two things that have given me greatest personal satisfaction during my years as mayor," continued Mr. Lyon, "are keeping the proposed freeway from coming down Highway I and having the state re-route it through Hatton Canyon and, the success to date, of Carmel's zoning ordinance which governs the location of liquor license establishments in Carmel. If this ordinance is upheld it will benefit not only Carmel but other cities in the state."

"One of my toughest assignments as mayor," he concluded, "was to say a few words of welcome to California Fertilizer Institute members when they met here. It was so hard not to be funny about the name of this group of serious scientists."

Kulka New Owner Joanne's Alterations

Mrs. Bianca Kulka, a modiste whose custom designing experience began in Europe, and later was practised in one of America's most fashion-alert cities, San Francisco, has taken over Joanne's Alteration Center, on San Carlos Street, near Fifth Avenue in Carmel. Mrs. Kulka plans to continue the alteration service long associated with Joanne's, employing the same staff of fashion experts retained by Mrs. Joanne Sears, former owner of the salon. In addition, Bianca Kulka will institute in Carmel a custom-designing service for Monterey Peninsula women, giving them gown originals created for them in their individual choice of fabric and mode.

Bianca Kulka, a native of Czechoslovakia, learned the art of custom designing in Prague. She later conducted her own salon in various cities in Switzerland.

From 1949 to 1953 her downtown San Francisco designing studio was well known to fashionable Bay City women. Upon moving to Carmel Mrs. Kulka accepted the position of manager of the Lanz Originals Ocean Avenue shop. It was during her tenure with Lanz that the shop was expanded from its original small size to the present store which occupies double frontage on Ocean Avenue.

In her purchase of Joanne's, Mrs. Kulka returns to her true metier—that of couturier and custom designer. She has remodeled and re-decorated Joanne's and plans to maintain hours from 9:30 to 4:30, Tuesday through Saturday. The shop will be closed on Mondays. Mrs. Kulka lives on Dolores Street at Eleventh Avenue in Carmel in a house she purchased there years ago.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Good Performance, Good Production At Circle

BY CAROLYN ELSTON

Sharing equally in their superb performances of the batty Brewster sisters, geniuses in the art of gentle murder, Madeleine Hicks and Florence Venn kept the opening night audience at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre Friday evening in a state of horrified glee from start to finish.

Arsenic and Old Lace is, as Director Charles Thomas has stated, just about the perfect play. It is hilarious, it brims with spine chilling murders, and it has young love, all with a new twist, crime triumphs at the final curtain, not virtue. What more could you ask?

Supporting the old dears who just can't resist dishing out their homemade elderberry wine, spiked with a bit of arsenic, to gentlemen over whom they pray when they're safely buried in the cellar, is a mighty talented cast.

Walter Williams as the fast talking nephew, Mortimer, dramatic critic in love with the neighboring minister's daughter, unaware of the villainies of Aunties Martha and Abby, is on stage practically every moment. The only sane Brewster, Mr. Williams brings to the role of juvenile lead handsome, wholesome, charm and a splendid portrayal.

His two lunatic brothers, Teddy played by Dick Lieberth, Johnathan by Errol Allan, won spontaneous applause for their widely different characterizations. Dick Lieberth storms, shouts and puffs majestically as the looney who would be Teddy Roosevelt. His makeup is an added note of triumph. Errol Allan, in the Dracula role of criminally insane Johnathan, never for an instant loses his spine chilling hold on the audience. His foil, Dr. Einstein, 'maker of new faces' and highly technical torture is superbly enacted by Gene Eplett who gives his character all the nastiness of things you find crawling under stones.

Others in the large cast included Margaret Phillips as the ingenue minister's daughter. Carrying the love interest of the play, she might inject more softness and romance into the part. Fred Farley as her father convinces one that he is a Reverend, but he looks unnecessarily ardent. A change in makeup and posture would be an improvement. Richard Bailey as Officer O'Hara is a lovable Irish cop; while his Lieutenant, Rooney, played by Tom May, is tops in hardboiled conceit and thick headedness. Douglas Macfarlane as the suave Mr. Witherspoon takes his arsenic with delightful and smiling gentlemanliness, winning highly appreciative shrieks of laughter. Cecil Haskell brings fine acting to an all too brief appearance as Mr. Gibbs who all but succeeds in guzzling the poison potion. Orville Summers and John Clemons complete the cast as cops who know their duty, and do it.

Add to this mad house a baker's dozen of walking corpses, many of whom leered at the audience, and you have an unforgettable evening of extremely good theatre.

Charles Thomas' directing is, as always, highly professional. His clear cut drawing of each character, and polish given to atmospheric detail give full evidence of his years in theatres from coast to coast. That he and his assistant director, Ramon Wilson, have accomplished perfection in their costuming and settings is we feel not an overstatement. The "old lace" worn so genteely by the soft spoken old ladies makes it all just a bit more raucously horrible. That Mrs. Hicks costumes were originated by Rhoda Johnson, widely known creator of costumes for the First Theatre of Monterey; and Mrs. Venn's costumes are authentic antiques, loaned by the Church of the Wayfarer gives new emphasis to our community's spirit of genuine friendliness and cooperation.

Other hardworking members of the Golden Bough Players Circle include Polly Bowhay, production assistant; Ruth Allan props; Henry, hairstylist; Don Ross, stage manager and Richard Bailey, assistant stage manager.

The administrative staff includes: Michel Mackay, managing director; Sally Bestor, housemanager and box office; Hope Hasty and Elisabeth Moore, ushers, and Sally Reichard in charge of coffee service.

Arsenic and Old Lace will run every Friday and Saturday evening through October and November.

AUTHENTIC INSTRUMENTS TO ACCOMPANY DANCERS

Ruth Beckford's collection of authentic drums from Haiti, Africa and Trinidad will be augmented by two huge bamboo voodoo flutes as accompaniment for her new concert program of folklore and rituals, which her troupe of fourteen dancers and drummers, now on their first Pacific coast tour, will perform at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, Saturday night only, October 12, starting at 8:30, under local management of Arlene Turi and Mary Jane Smithback.

Highlight are Ibo Lele, a Haitian drum fantasy; Loa Ezile, an invocation; Tambours Jacmel, a drum ritual; Petro, a voodoo ceremonial; Belaire, a village festival number; Causerie Gonaives, a drum conversation among plantation workers; Bamboche, a colorful congo, and Afrique and Limbo.

Miriam Potter's Just Mrs. Goose Out This Week

Just Mrs. Goose by Miriam Clark Potter (Mrs. Zenas L. Potter) of Carmel was released by publishers J. B. Lippincott Company yesterday. This is the seventh in a series of children's books about Mrs. Goose written by Mrs. Potter. Illustrations are by the author and her artist husband Zenas L. Potter.

Main character of Mrs. Potter's stories is a goose whom the writer met in her childhood on a Minnesota farm. After graduation from the University of Minnesota; Miriam Clark married a childhood friend, Zenas Potter. When he retired from a newspaper career the couple moved to Carmel. Here Mr. Potter was able to devote time to painting and became an exhibiting member of the Carmel Art Association.

Just Mrs. Goose was written while Mr. and Mrs. Potter were in Italy last year. They returned to Carmel in June.

In this volume, Mrs. Goose discovers baby-sitting and violin playing, struggles with a library card and a sewing machine, all adventures to delight the young readers who already know Mrs. Goose or those who will meet her for the first time in Miriam Clark Potter's latest book.

3 Bedrooms - 2 Baths - and a Fabulous view

This one is a nearly new house, on an acre of land, in a top residential area. It was built by an excellent builder for his own home; business now takes him elsewhere, so his loss can be your gain. The view is of . . . well, it's too spectacular to describe. The house has everything you'd expect under the circumstances and perhaps a little more. The best part of all is the price of $47,500 (which is low for what is offered here.)

MERCED RIVER

Glen-long rumor of laughter
vexes the mountain boulder, tinkling glitter mocks mute stone, leaping song splashes the grave shoulder.

She twirls her pebble path, brighter than the stem of the plateau poplar, aflicker like his leaves, bending blither than his boughs. She dazes the sycamore island with two musics' blending.

But learns to lean on the stalwart granite as she flares her sky-color frock.
Pauses to rest pooled deep in the love of the grey rock.

And falls! Cloud ridge to mist gorge, from cliff brink down highland's death to the valley's shuddering crag-shards — screaming with voiceless breath.

Storm of disaster sweeps her tattered lace, thundershock shatters silver side,
the madstrom drenches the canyon air with weeping, shakes the chasm with moaning for the bride.

But beyond frenzy, careening precipice crumble, she flows wide, giving glad shore the hue of leaf-cool afternoons,
long psalms to fields gay with daughters,
deep holy dance to the tunes of boy-bright oaks gathered by the waters.

Sandra Sowell Wed In Mission

Bouquets of white snowball chrysanthemums decorated the altar of Carmel Mission on Sunday afternoon when Sandra Sowell was married to Thomas Edward Clark of San Francisco in a double ring ceremony performed by the Very Reverend Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell. Arrangements of smaller chrysanthemums marked the family pews and Robert M. Forbes, former piano teacher of the bride, played organ music while the guests assembled.

Given in marriage by her father Benjamin F. Sowell Jr. of Carmel, the bride wore a floor length dress of white Chantilly lace over taffeta with a long-sleeved, boat neckline fitted bodice from which fell a bell-shaped hoop skirt. Rows of tiny lace-covered buttons fastened the bodice in back and the sleeves from wrist to elbow.

Her fingertip veil fell from a tiny Chantilly lace Juliet cap trimmed with clusters of seed pearls matching her necklace of cultured pearls, the gift of the groom, and her bouquet was an arrangement of stephanotis and white butterfly orchids centered by one large white orchid.

Phyllis Ann Burnette of Carmel, a junior at Scripps College, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Victoria Miller of Monterey, a student at U.C.L.A.; Priscilla Clark and Jeanne Fratessa of Carmel, both juniors at Stanford; and Judith Rigby of Carmel and Barbara Pollitt of San Francisco, from College of the Pacific. They were dressed alike in forget-me-not blue chiffon gowns made with scoop necklines and bodices defined by shirred chiffon between three narrow bands of matching satin, creating a cummerbund effect. Flat tailored satin bows with streamers marked the waistlines of the dresses in back. Their shoes and tiny veiled head bandeaux matched their gowns and they carried shower arrangements of deep yellow rosebuds.

Joseph Haller Clark of Corte Madera was best man for his brother and ushers were Raymond Leahy, Paul Hofman, Robert Kearns and Homer Sweeney of San Francisco and Jack McCormick of Carmel wearing white jackets and dark trousers like those of the groom and the bride's father.

Mrs. Sowell attended her daughter's marriage in a pale champagne chiffon lace sheath with a softly draped panel of the chiffon falling from the cummerbund waistline on the left side. Her hat of pheasant feathers matched her dark champagne colored shoes and bag and her brown cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Edward A. Clark of San Francisco, the groom's mother, wore a deep delphinium blue wool dress with satin trim, a matching hat and a corsage of white butterfly orchids.

White chrysanthemums decorated the Fiesta Room of the Casa Munras for the reception following the wedding. The four tiered wedding cake was wreathed with stephanotis and a tree arrangement of the same flowers decorated the top tier. During the reception ten Tau Kappa Kappa sorority sisters of the bride gathered to sing to her a special sorority song.

When the bride and groom left for a honeymoon at the Santa Barbara Biltmore Hotel, the bride wore a deep blue sheath dress of light wool with matching sate cummerbund, a black hat, shoes and bag. On their return they will live in San Francisco in a garden apartment at Park Merced.

The bride is a graduate of Sunset School and Santa Catalina School for Girls. She attended College of the Pacific for two years as a science major. In February she will continue her education at San Francisco State College. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sowell Sr. of Pacific Grove and the late Professor and Mrs. C. Chapel Judson of Pebble Beach. William S. Judson of Carmel is her uncle.

The groom, member of a pioneer California family, graduated in business administration from the University of San Francisco in June and is now employed in the San Francisco offices of Pillsbury Mills.

Pre-Columbian Art In P. G. Show

Through popular demand, the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is exhibiting the Pre-Columbian burial pieces unearthed in Panama by Mrs. Ann Berg of Carmel. These intriguing artifacts include strangely beautiful three-legged urns with rattles incorporated in the legs, rounded bowls without basal support, and bits of gold which were used for ornamentation. There are also finely worked stone celts and bird-like whistles or ocarinas.

These objects from Puerto Amulles, Province of Chiriqui, represent 500-700 year-old works of art which are unsurpassed by any other family of American ware. Several pieces of Mrs. Berg's collection are decorated in the negative painting process known as the lost color technique. The design was first laid on the pots in wax and then red and black paint was applied and the wax removed. Other bowls are decorated with interesting zoomorphic figures.

The Museum is lengthening its visiting hours. It will now be open from 10:00-5:00 o'clock every day except Monday.

Sail For Hawaii Saturday

Mrs. Russell Williams and daughters Honey and Molly sail on Saturday from San Francisco at noon on the President Wilson for a visit to Hawaii. In Los Angeles they will be joined by Mrs. Daniel James. They will all be guests of Mrs. James' son-in-law and daughter, Ensign and Mrs. Daniel Willard (Barbara James) during their stay in Honolulu and expect to be back in Carmel by Thanksgiving with reports on a new arrival in the Willard family.

In San Francisco to bid Mrs. Williams and the girls goodbye will be Dr. Williams who left today to attend Heart Association meetings in the city; Mrs. Valentine Miller and her three children Alison, Andrew and Jane, who are driving Mrs. Williams and her daughters to the dock; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton on their way to Happy Valley to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Knudsen.

This evening Mrs. John Nesbitt is giving a farewell dinner party for the travellers.

Lawyers' Wives Tour

Lawyers' wives of Monterey County and San Francisco joined to be hostesses to visiting California Bar Association lawyers' wives on Wednesday afternoon at a Pebble Beach house and garden tour.

Refreshments were served at the Seventeen Mile Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Goodwin after guests had visited the houses and gardens of J. Hampton Hoge, Colonel and Mrs. Allen Griffin and Mrs. F. G. Crookshank.

Film, Tea At Woman's Club

A travelogue motion picture lecture on Indo-China Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock by Dr. William G. Campbell will be the opening program for the Carmel Woman's Club. There will be a feature length documentary film in color showing the scenic beauties of Indo-China as well as the life and customs of its people. Pictures will be shown of Dr. Campbell's private audience with the king of Cambodia, the Royal Dancers of Laos, temple life and the blood sacrifices of remote tribal peoples, opium dens and golden pagodas. Also there will be pictured the million refugees fleeing from communist controlled North Vietnam.

Dr. Campbell is a world traveler, lecturer and writer whose journeys have taken him to most countries and every continent on the globe. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California, the University of Texas and Stanford University, from which he holds a Ph.D. degree. He has written articles on travel, international problems and education for a wide variety of magazines.

Dr. Campbell's lecture will be followed by a tea at which the board of directors will act as hostesses. The board consists of Mrs. Barbara V. Murphy, president; Mrs. Carl E. Menneken, first vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. Greene Erskine, second vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. John D. Gates, recording secretary; Mrs. D. L. Staniford, treasurer; Mrs. Charles V. O. Terwilliger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alexander Cleary, chairman for the card section; Mrs. S. B. Moore, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Stephen Olop, house chairman; Mrs. W. C. Adams, rental chairman; Mrs. C. A. Broadus, house and garden chairman; Miss Mabel Stark, librarian; and Mrs. Roy W. Elliott, publicity chairman.

On October 17 the club will hold its autumn rummage sale and members are reminded to bring their contributions to this meeting.

John Stewart Married In France

Mrs. Hampton S. Stewart Jr. is back from a 17 day flying trip to Europe where on September 14 she attended the marriage of her older son John to Anne Hammersley of Pasadena. The wedding took place in the post chapel at the U.S. Army base in Verdun, France. Chaplain Charles M. Smith performed the ceremony.

Anne was given in marriage by her uncle, Howard Cook of Pasadena, and Mrs. Cook was her niece's matron of honor. For her wedding she wore a white silk pique sheath dress with a lace midriff, a matching small white silk veiled hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounded by a ruffle of white net.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for a short stay in Luxembourg and then drove to Cannes on the French Riviera for the rest of their two week's honeymoon. They will live in Verdun until John completes his Army service in August, then return to the United States.

Anne and John met when they were both students at the University of Arizona. Mrs. Charles Cook of Pasadena is Anne's grandmother and she has one sister, Mary Hammersley, a student at the University of New Mexico.

John graduated from Sunset School and Carmel High School before studying at Cal Poly and Arizona. He is the brother of Hampton Stewart III, freshman at the University of California in Santa Barbara, and of Natalie Stewart, a student at Santa Catalina School for Girls.

Mrs. Stewart flew to Europe with the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Cook. After her son's marriage she visited Paris, London, Amsterdam and Copenhagen, then flew home over the polar route arriving here on Friday.

School Camp

Sixth grade school camp started on Monday morning when 54 students from Sunset school accompanied by sixth grade teacher James Blee set out for Jones Gulch, La Honda, in the Santa Cruz mountains to stay until Friday.

Site of the school camp is the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. camp, same location last year. Pupils camping this week are from Miss Sally McPhail's room as well as Mr. Blee's.

When this group returns Sunset's other sixth grades taught by Mr. Harry Walcott and Miss Mary Lee Desmond will have their turn at outdoor life for five days, starting October 14.

Macks Have First Child

Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. W. Mack have named their first child Ronald Kenneth. He was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on September 25 and weighed an even seven pounds at birth.

This morning his maternal grandmother Mrs. Kenneth R. Chisholm of Boston, Massachusetts, arrived in Carmel to meet her grandson and send reports to his grandfather who was unable to come West at this time.

Ronald's parents have lived in Carmel for a year. His father teaches sixth grade at Ord Terrace School in Seaside.

Mrs. Leone Mack of Anchorage, Alaska, is Ronald's paternal grandmother.

Scott Edward Kuster At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Kuster brought their first child, Scott Edward, home this week from the Peninsula Community Hospital where he was born on September 27. Scott weighed eight pounds, eight ounces at birth.

Cables announcing the birth of their new grandson were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuster in Europe and to Aunt Marcia Kuster who is also abroad. They are expected home in the middle of November when Mr. Kuster will meet the fourth generation member of his family to be given the name Edward.

"Scott" says Colin, "is just a name we liked."

Gilberts Go East

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gilbert leave tomorrow for Bridge Hampton on Long Island where they plan to stay for two months as guests of Mrs. Gilbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wiley. They will also visit their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Quimby (Cynthia Gilbert) in New York City.

While the Gilberts are in the East their house in the Eighty Acres will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Sample of Jackson, Wyoming.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The ever-present power of the Christ, Truth, to heal sickness and to destroy discord will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Unreality" will include the following from Luke (13:11-13): "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (142:31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, to-day, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

Joseph D. Kobus of Carmel Valley was presented with the American Forest Fire Medal at the American Forestry Association's annual conference in Madison, Wisconsin, on Tuesday. This is the second recognition Mr. Kobus has received for his heroic action in the Thompson Park Fire in Los Padres National Forest on September 6, 1955 when he saved the lives of four men. In May he received a citation for Superior Service Award from Secretary of Agriculture Benson presented at ceremonies on the Washington Monument grounds in Washington, D.C.

To keep the Little League graduates playing baseball, the directors are working on a plan to enter a team in the Monterey Babe Ruth League. The way has been cleared for the Carmel team to enter Monterey's circuit but help is needed in the form of sponsors for the team. One way of providing a Carmel entry is for 15 sponsors to team up to provide finances for entering the league. With an opening wedge into Babe Ruth League play, it wouldn't be long before Carmel could have its own league for the youngsters who are too old for Little League play. Carmel High School's new baseball diamond is ideal for Babe Ruth or Pony League play which encompasses the 13 to 15 age group.

Besides paper work plans for more teams and more baseball in Carmel, the Little League directors are busy with plans for improving the Little League park. Before the 1958 season rolls around, a big-league type grass diamond will be constructed with a skinned-off infield and all the other trimmings which go with a first class baseball diamond.

Mary Klepich

Mrs. Mary Miller Klepich, Carmel artist, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital. This summer she returned from a painting trip to Europe earlier than she had intended because of illness and entered the hospital for further treatment a short time ago.

Mrs. Klepich was born in Centerville, Iowa, on July 18, 1919. She moved with her family to Santa Monica as a small child and attended the Santa Monica schools. In high school she came under the influence of an inspired art teacher who recognized her talents and urged her to enter the Los Angeles Art Center for continued art training.

World War II interrupted these studies. After being a worker in a plane factory for a short time, Mary Miller joined the United States Marines. She first served as a Marine sergeant in North Carolina and later in Hawaii where she was attached to Special Services as a mural painter.

She resumed her art studies after the war and while in Mexico at the University de Bella Artes, San Miguel de Allende, met and married Fred Klepich a former fellow student at the Los Angeles Art Center, on July 14, 1948.

In 1949 Mary Miller Klepich and her husband came to Carmel to live and she became a much loved and active member of local art groups and an exhibiting member of the Carmel Art Association. When the Carmel Craft Studios were opened two years ago last spring Mary Miller Klepich and her husband were partners with August Nieto in the venture and also opened an art supplies store in the studios and a small exhibition and sales gallery.

Shortly thereafter Mary Miller Klepich began painting the outdoor mural at the studios. After completing the first panel of the work, which was to trace the history of California from the time of the padres to the present day, the condition which caused her death first became evident and she was unable to finish the mural.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Klepich is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ethel Miller of Los Angeles.

Private funeral services are this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Paul Funeral Chapel with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the Church of the Wayfarer officiating. Inurnment follows in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove.

Friends of Mary Miller Klepich wishing to pay respects to her memory are asked to do so in the form of donations to the Carmel Art Association or to the American Cancer Research Society.

Mr. Rapp was born in San Francisco on June 10, 1884. He is survived by his wife Mrs. Grace Rapp of Carmel.

Services conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the Church of the Wayfarer were held this morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Final rites will be private.

400 Congratulate Barnet Segal In New Location

Over 400 persons visited Carmel Savings and Loan Association offices last Monday during an Open House held at the firm's new building at Dolores Street and Seventh Avenue.

An attractive feature of the Open House was the elaborate display of close to fifty floral arrangements, tributes sent to Carmel Savings from banks, savings institutions and friends all over state. The flowers still are on display and are well worth a special visit. Autumn blooms predominate, with particularly effective arrangements of copper, yellow, bronze and gold-hued chrysanthemums.

Door prizes given by the Association to commemorate its Opening included a portable television set, won by Mrs. Paul Heymann of Carmel; a transistor radio, won by Laura Austin of Carmel; a twenty-five dollar Carmel Savings account, which went to Jimmy Sweeney of Carmel, and a ten dollar Carmel Savings account won by Tom Bunn of Pebble Beach. Baby orchids, flown in from Hawaii, were presented to all women guests during Open House.

Barnet J. Segal, managing director of the institution, long has been prominent in Carmel's civic and business life. He is a past president of the Carmel Board of Realtors, current president of the Carmel Association of Insurance Agents. He has served as state director of the Savings and Loan League. From 1928 to 1936 "Barney" Segal was City Treasurer of the City of Carmel.

Mr. Segal was the founder of the Bank of Carmel in 1923. In 1929 he transferred his business interests from the Bank of Carmel to Carmel Investment Company, the city's first realty and insurance office, founded by Joe Hand, Carmel's first realtor. At that time Mr. Segal purchased Carmel Investment Company from Mr. Hand's successors. He has headed that venture since then, later expanding into his present firm, Carmel Savings and Loan Association. In the early 1930's Barnet Segal, by public subscription, raised the funds which made possible the founding of the Carmel Art Association Galleries. As well, he was one of the founders of the Carmel Art Association.

Mr. Segal has his home in Carmel at Monte Verde and Seventh Avenue.

Tanous, Little In New Offices On Ocean Ave.

Leo Tanous, Carmel realtor, and Robert L. Little, insurance broker, are now established in their new offices on Ocean Avenue, on the north side of the street, a few doors east of The Bank of Carmel. Mr. Tanous, has renamed his firm Ocean Avenue Realty. Robert L. Little will now operate his insurance agency under the new title of Carmel Insurance Agency.

The new Little-Tanous offices, formerly the premises of Barnet J. Segal's Carmel Savings and Loan Association, have been remodeled and redecorated.

The color plan combines a warm rose-beige, found in contemporary style metal furniture and filing cabinets; coral used for all leather upholstery, and a pale, sand-pink, which decorates walls, and is repeated on the composition floor. Mr. Little and Mr. Tanous have transferred their collection of oil paintings from their previous Dolores Street offices to their new Ocean Avenue location.

Both Bob Little and Leo Tanous have long been active in Monterey Peninsula insurance and realty business. Previously, their offices were on upper Dolores Street, and later on the same street, south of Ocean Avenue. "The move to Ocean Avenue was caused by the need for expansion, and our wish, a long-held one, to maintain offices on Carmel's main street," Mr. Little said. "We look forward to serving our many clients in our new locale, and wish, too, to express our appreciation of the support and cooperation accorded our firms in past years."

Leo Tanous is now president of the Carmel Board of Realtors. Bob Little, who is both broker and agent, long has specialized in all forms of insurance.
